SHOREHAM

PAST

Shoreham-by-Sea is easy to fall for. At first, it's the coastline that draws people in – but spend a little more time here, and you start to notice how much of the town's past still shapes it today.

From the 12th-century St Mary de Haura Church to Shoreham Fort overlooking the sea, Shoreham has always evolved with the people who live here. Old buildings, former industrial spaces and historic landmarks have gradually found new purpose over time, giving the town a sense of progress without losing its character.

That feeling continues today. Independent cafés, local businesses and a growing creative community sit alongside wide open beaches, riverside walks and the South Downs beyond. Shoreham feels connected to its history, but it's always looking forward too – a town that has grown naturally over time, shaped as much by what's next as by where it came from.

Sustainability is shaping the way the town grows, with greener spaces, thoughtfully designed homes, and a stronger connection to the natural environment. At the same time, its creative energy continues to build, supported by local artists, community initiatives, and spaces like the Ropetackle Arts Centre.

Shoreham-by-Sea's setting remains one of its greatest strengths. The coastline, river, and open landscape draw people in, while ongoing investment supports both everyday life and new opportunities. With close links to centres of learning and innovation, there's a growing sense of momentum – new ideas and possibilities beginning to take shape.

What truly defines the town is its community. Open, engaged, and forward-looking, it's this balance of people, place, and progress that makes Shoreham-by-Sea's future feel full of potential.

Seaside living in Shoreham-by-Sea has an easy, natural rhythm, shaped by its varied coastline.

Shoreham Beach offers wide, open views and a sense of space, while Kingston Beach, set along the banks of the River Adur, feels quieter and more tucked away. Just along the coast, Southwick Beach brings a more traditional seaside feel. Together, they create a stretch of shoreline where the water is always close – whether for a walk, a moment to pause, or simply to watch the tide come and go.

A HOME OF YOUR OWN WITH SHARED OWNERSHIP

SHARED OWNERSHIP

Now that you have found your dream home you're probably asking, "Is Shared Ownership right for me?" At Southern Housing New Homes, we know that a new home is one of the biggest purchases you will ever make, and Shared Ownership helps make this a reality.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

You'll start by buying a share of your home that's between 10% and 75% of the full value, using a combination of a mortgage and a deposit between 5-10%. You will then pay a subsidised rent on the share you don't buy. In the future, if your circumstances change and you'd like to, you can purchase more shares in your home, right up to 100%. As your share increases, the rent you pay decreases.

BEFORE PROCEEDING, YOU MUST CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING:

- Your total household income must be £80,000 a year or less.
- These apartments are leasehold.
- A service charge is payable to contribute to the management and maintenance of the development. This is reviewed annually and may increase over time (see the price list for details).

SOUTHERN HOUSING new homes

NEW SHARED OWNERSHIP MODEL FOR DOCK MAKERS QUARTER

The homes shown in this brochure at Dock Makers Quarter are part of the new Shared Ownership model that includes some changes designed to help more people get onto the property ladder. These changes include:

- The minimum initial share being reduced from 25% to 10% making Shared Ownership accessible for more people.
- A contribution up to £500 a year towards certain repairs and maintenance costs in the first 10 years of ownership. This contribution can be rolled over for one year.
- Shared Owners being able to staircase in 1% increments per year for 10 years without undertaking a valuation. Other staircasing transactions will be reduced to a minimum of 5% rather than 10%.

Affordability and eligibility checks apply.
Ask your Sales Executive for more information to start making your dream a reality.
